Investment Opportunities in 8 Burgundy `Négociant' Grand Crus (2017 Vintage)

- Great Burgundy wines are produced from top quality vineyards in excellent vintages. It does not matter what type of producer has their name on the label, provided they produce wines using the utmost skill and care.
- Given the recent rise in prices for top Burgundy wines, we are urging clients to look for value in top "négociant" wines, especially those with top scores from Grand Cru vineyards (the highest classification) where "domaine" wines trade at much higher prices.
- Négociant wines often trade at a discount to similarly scored 'domaine' wines. We see no real reason for this and feel that it is a market opportunity.
- We have found 8 Grand Cru négociant wines from the heralded 2017 vintage with good scores which are priced at a discount (in some cases over 50%) to comparable domaine wines.
- We believe that these wines could see significant outperformance over the next 3-5 wines as the price gap closes.

What is a 'Négociant' Burgundy Wine?

"Négociant" wines are made by merchant companies who own vineyards, but they also buy grapes, must and finished wine from other growers. "Domaine" wines are made by companies which only grow and bottle their own wines. Today the grand old négociant houses actually own more vineyards than most domaines; and all the top négociants now grow, vinify and bottle many top wines, exactly as domaines do.

So is there Really any Difference Between "Négociant" and "Domaine" Wines Today?

In many cases, no. In fact, it is harder and harder to distinguish between a domaine and a negociant. "Domaine" Dujac offers négociant wines under the Dujac Père et Fils label. "Domaine" Leroy uses the Maison Leroy label for its négociant range etc. etc. Old and historic négociants like Bouchard Pere et Fils (1731), Louis Jadot (1859) or Domaine Faiveley (1825) own significant vines in the very best Grand Cru vineyards.

Why do "Négociant" Wines Trade at a Steep Discount to Domaine Wines?

There isn't a good reason - and that is what creates an investment opportunity. The market hasn't caught up with the fact that many négociant are directly comparable with domaine wines (i.e. they are made from grapes owned and vinified by the négociant themselves). Over the next 3-5 years, we expect the market to become more efficient and for similarly scored wines from the same vineyard to trade at similar prices. Discounts of over 50% for essentially the same wine are not sustainable.

Top 8 Grand Cru Négociant Investment Opportunities

We screened the entire 2017 vintage and found 8 opportunities in Grand Cru (the highest classification) négociant wines. These wines all trade at a discount to comparable domaine wines of similar quality<sup>1</sup>:
